Henderson is getting its first high-rise residential tower called Pinnacle Residences. It is a private, 11-acre residential development project by Luxus Developments and Azure Resorts & Hotels. It is located within the MacDonald Highlands neighborhood and is scheduled to open in 2024. Pinnacle Residences will have 171 condominium residences with Strip views from every home and 10 single family villas with prices starting from $1.5M. Residences range from 2,400 to 6,600 square feet. WATG is the architectural firm of the project and Wimberly Interiors is the interior design firm.

Exclusive access to the members-only club within the MacDonald Highlands community including Dragon Ridge Country Club, the private member’s golf, swim and tennis club.

Luxus Developments, a subsidiary of The Luxus Group, is a real estate investment and development firm focused on ground-up and repositioning opportunities in the hospitality and resort-residential asset classes in the Caribbean, Mexico, and the United States.

“I am honored to be partnering with Luxus Developments and Azure Resorts & Hotels in the development of this one-of-a-kind project,” said Richard C. MacDonald, developer of MacDonald Highlands. “I am confident that the combination of the team’s expertise coupled with a truly unique site and offering will result in an unparalleled lifestyle offering for Las Vegas that will set a new precedent for luxury living.”
