

82 ° F Mostly cloudy
Kailua Kona HI

First set of luxury Laulea units sell

Published July 17, 2015 - 1:30am

Like Tweet 0 Pin it +1 0 Submit

Updated: July 17, 2015 - 1:30am

West Hawaii Today

Developers of luxury homes in South Kohala have sold the first seven units at the Residences of Laulea.

Contracts for all of the homes in the first phase of the project were secured Thursday, the first day that the units officially went on sale. The $20 million in sales means the second of three phases will be released this month, the project's developer Stephen Patasky said. A total of 17 homes in the $2 million to $4 million range are planned for the Mauna Lani Resort project. Full buildout is expected by early 2017.

A nonbinding reservation list this spring exceeded the number of first units available. The 2,700- to 3,000-square-foot homes off South Kaniku Drive are inspired by traditional Hawaiian architecture and offer blended indoor and outdoor living spaces, four bedrooms, private pools, spas and access to beaches and resort amenities.

0 Comments

West Hawaii Today

1 Login

Search Site

Google™ Custom Search

Search

WEST HAWAII TODAY VIDEOS

TRENDING | TOP COMMENTED | MOST SHARED

2015-07-20 01:30

Respect for Ethics Board lost

2015-07-20 01:30

Big Fish List | July 20

2015-07-20 01:30

Spieth moves to second after third round of British Open

2015-07-20 01:30

Friendship tennis tourney wraps up play

2015-07-20 01:30

Peaman Red, White and Blue Biatlon Results | July 19

2015-07-20 01:30

3-time world champ fights off shark during South Africa comp